

Freedom Energy CEO Speaks Out

Dear Shareholders,

I am as dumbfounded as anyone regarding the heavy volume and price sell off of our common stock yesterday. I was shocked to see what happened.

In response to yesterday's activities, I am in the process of ordering another NOBO list as well as a DTC report in an effort to determine where all the volume came from. All reports just prior to this clearly indicated that there should have never been this type of action with our common stock, especially on the day in which we announced the company's first quarterly profit of $55,000 or revenues of $175,000. As the saying goes: 'There is something rotten in Denmark', and I will get to the bottom of it.

I cannot control the actions of others, but I can assure you, that my first and main agenda is to bring value to the shareholders.

We have many things in the works and I am very excited how we are positioned at this time. I hope to bring news of other positive opportunities that are opening up as well as progress we have made with KC 9000® and advances with the asphalt shingle project in the very near future.

Respectfully,

Brian Kistler

FORWARD LOOKING STATEMENT

This press release contains certain "forward-looking" statements, as defined in the United States Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 that involve a number of risks and uncertainties. Statements, which are not historical facts, are forward-looking statements. The Company, through its management, makes forward-looking public statements concerning its expected future operations, performance and other developments. Such forward-looking statements are necessarily estimates reflecting the Company's best judgment based upon current information and involve a number of risks and uncertainties, and there can be no factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those estimated by the Company. They include, but are not limited to, the Company's ability to develop operations, the Company's ability to consummate and complete the acquisition, the Company's access to future capital, the successful integration of acquired companies, government regulation, managing and maintaining growth, the effect of adverse publicity, litigation, competition, sales and other factors that may be identified from time to time in the Company's public announcements.
